

Welcome, March!

Take a special walk to kick off a brand new month. Use all of your senses to discover what the world is doing as March begins in your biome. Draw or write about what you observe below, in a nature journal or wherever you like!

What do we notice?

What can we see?

What can we hear?

What can we smell?

What can we feel?

What can we taste?

Does March resemble this adage in your biome?
"In like a lion, out like a lamb?"
